California Theatre Plans College Night To Benefit Charity

SCOTT HELD'S ORCHESTRA
TO FURNISH MUSIC
FOR DANCING

Scott Held and his orchestra are generously providing the music for the Quad dance tonight from 7:30 to 8:30, preceding the "Santa Claus benefit" college night at the Fox California Theatre. Funds from the performance will provide Christmas presents for needy children whose letters to the North Pole would otherwise go unanswered.

A half hour of stage entertainment by State College performers will be given in conjunction with "Hot Saturday," featuring Nancy Carroll. Official thanks will be extended the football team by the Junior Chamber of Commerce at this time.

The football team will take no active part in the performance, out of respect for the death of Mr. M. Hubbard, father of Coach Bill and Captain Bud.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce has secured Al Meyers, chairman of the City Council, and Arthur Caldwell, president of the Jr. C. of C., as speakers.

The affair is being sponsored by the Junior Chamber, with the aid of a State College Committee, through the courtesy of E. J. Sullivan, manager of the Fox California Theatre.

Spartan Glee Club Will Perform Sunday

Making its first formal off-campus appearance of the year, the Spartan Mens' Glee Club will present a concert in the Unitarian Church on North Third Street next Sunday evening, commencing at 7:30 o'clock. Under a plan inaugurated this year, the group will be led by a student director, Gerry Erwin. Marvis Hockabout, tenor of the glee club, is to be heard in a solo number.

Gene Dorais, talented San Jose organist, is to accompany the glee club.

Under the student leadership plan George T. Matthews, founder of the organization and director of it during the past nine years, plays the role of faculty adviser.

Freshmen Edit Issue of Times

Seizing the opportunity extended to it by the editor of the State College Times of publishing one issue, the freshman class presents today's edition.

Aroused on occasions to a point of wrath upon seeing highly slanderous material concerning them in print, the freshmen nevertheless fully appreciate the work that goes into the paper daily, and hope to be of help in improving the sheet journalistically in the future.

The staff which published the issue follows: Frank Hamilton, editor; Leonard Blaikie, managing editor; Earl Pomeroy, feature editor; Louise Winans, society editor; and Dan Feeley, sports editor.

"Smilin' Through" To Be Enacted Dec. 15, 16, As Present to College

As a Christmas gift to San Jose State College, the dramatics department presents A. L. Martin's popular comedy, "Smilin' Through" on the evenings of December 16 and 17. Although no admission is charged for the play, a silver offering is to be taken up for the benefit of the Student Loan Fund. In previous years the contribution has been given to charity.

Produced first as a movie six years ago, the play again appeared this year as a talking picture, proving to be popular on both occasions. According to Hugh Gillis, director of "Smilin' Through," this is to be one of the most elaborate shows ever put on at the college. Complete lighting and stage sets have been rented from San Francisco, and special costumes are being designed.

The cast follows: Dr. Harding, Wallace Murray; John Carteret, Maurice Travis; Kathleen Moon-yeen, Mary Lyles (Thursday night) and Dorothy Viera (Friday night); Ellen, Virginia Maddox; Kenneth Wayne, Sherman McFedries; and Willie Ainley, George Paullus.

Incidental music for the play is to be rendered by the San Jose State orchestra under the direction of Ed Brown. Evelyn Covello is to be heard in solos.

Upholding the affirmative side of the question against the Santa Clara University on "Shall the United States Cancel Its War Debts?" Tom Needham, Charles Pinkham, and Joel Carter did a fine piece of work for State College.

Wednesday Is Date Set for Election of Board Members

CANDIDATES NOMINATED AT GENERAL ASSEMBLY
ARE IN RACE

The quarterly election of members to the College Executive Board is scheduled for next Wednesday. Nominations for the various offices at stake were made in the assembly meeting on Tuesday of this week. Dick Sanders and Don Madsen are the only two members of the board who are running for re-election. Sanders, incumbent Student Affairs Chairman and Managing Editor of the college paper, is opposed for re-election by Dario (Si) Simoni and Perry Stratton. Don Madsen, present music representative is running against Jack Murdock, prominent member of the College Glee Club. Charles Pinkham, president of the Sophomore class is running for Forensics Manager opposed by Jim Fitzgerald, present editor of the "State College Times." Both Pinkham and Fitzgerald are members of the Spartan Senate, newly organized honorary debate society on the campus.

The polls will be open from eight a. m. until five p. m., in the main corridor in front of the Morris Elmer Dailey auditorium.

Every person whose name is on the registrar's books is entitled to vote Wednesday.

Each student of the college is urged to be present and cast his ballot, thus exercising his privilege to have a part in the choice of next quarter's officers.

Rice Will Read To Shakespearean Lovers

Lovers of Shakespeare will be interested in the coming of Mr. Phidelah Rice to San Jose on Monday evening, December 12th, at the Theo. Roosevelt Jr. auditorium.

Mr. Rice is to give "Hamlet."

The play will be given complete. Mr. Rice comes here from New York, where he appeared at the Belmont Theatre with great success. To miss it is to miss a literary treat.

Student tickets for the production are selling for 40 cents, and adult tickets for $1.10.

These tickets for the production are on sale in Miss Jenk's office.

Only a limited number is obtainable, and all who plan to avoid the big rush should make reservations at once, or they will be added to the growing list of dissatisfied "liberal virgins" who come too late.

Frosh Stage Annual Ball Saturday; Bids Are Still Obtainable

Seating Changed for Orientation

Frosh boys and girls don't like to be separated in Orientation—at least this is the conclusion arrived at by Dr. Goddard, counselor of the group, as he is arranging a plan of seating the class with boys and girls in alternate seats in the Thursday gatherings next quarter.

During the fall quarter the assemblage was arranged with boys on one side of the house and girls on the other. This plan had been adopted to aid in singing, but did not work out wholly satisfactorily.

Dr. F. Cohn Speaks As Freshman Meet Thursday Morning

Opening the regular freshman orientation meeting, Thursday, Charles Gubser, president, turned the meeting over to Dr. Elder, who introduced Dr. Frank Cohn, who was representative for the New York Evening Post in Germany and Austria during the early World War, and for New Zealand and Australia after the war. Dr. Cohn has done much research work in the field of History, Political Science and International Relations. In 1925 he was associated in the politicoal move in Mexico and was special representative for the New York Evening Post during the presidency of Obregon.

"The invention of the cotton gin was very important in the development of the history of the United States," stated Dr. Cohn. With this invention, he explained, the southern states changed their entire attitude towards government and began to interpret the constitution in a different manner. He explained that this whole movement was due to the invention of one machine.

Sketches on life in Russia, the type of government, and a discussion of the Five Year plan was the main topic of his talk. The reason for the failure of the government of Russia was that the whole country was turned over to use of machinery in the five years, when a government of intellectual people took a hundred years to develop under the use of machinery.

FRESHMAN BALL BIGGEST EVENT OF QUARTER TO BE HELD SATURDAY

"Anyone of importance will be present at the annual Freshman Ball Saturday evening," it was announced by Bill Towner, chairman. The Moorish Court at O'Brien's will be the scene of the biggest social event this quarter.

Craig's Cardinals and Paul Cox's orchestras will furnish the music. During the intermission, special numbers will be rendered for entertainment by Craig's musicians.

The guests will enjoy dancing from nine o'clock until one o'clock, shrouded by the freshman theme of decoration, of which Miss Elaine Edwards has charge.

It seems to be the popular thing to find difficulty in getting the necessary amount in order to gain admission. However, the ticket sellers may receive the idea of extending credit to reliable customers. The bid sales are limited to 150 in order to keep the floor from being crowded.

"Bids may be secured at the door," Towner revealed, "or at the Controller's office before the dance."

Under Frank Hamilton, the following have bids to dispose of: Bud Stewart, Pat Hicks, Rita Greco, Jim Sinclair, Ginger Thomas, Elwood Austin, Muriel Hood, Charles Hoehn, Gerry Green, Bill Towner, Louise Winans, Hazel Wolford and Hilda Gussfeld.

Afternoon Dance To Be Given in Women's Gym

More than 350 students are expected to attend the student body dance Friday in the Women's Gym, it was announced this morning by Leon Warmke, student body president.

Paul Cox's orchestra will furnish the music from 4 o'clock until six o'clock. The admission price is ten cents.

This will be the last in a series of afternoon pay dances this year. Although this is a new experiment, the dances have proven such a success, it is probable that they will be continued again next quarter, Warmke revealed.

The scheduled trip to the Edward Markham Home has been postponed until next Monday, December 12.

Tomorrow, What?

San Jose State College is in a period of transition. It is breaking forth from the field of one-horse schools to that of well-balanced colleges. New life is being injected into a long-established institution, bringing it into its rightful place along with California's leading colleges.

Founded in 1871 as a Normal School, it has, until recent years, remained on that status, although it had developed during the years in many other fields. Finally the time arrived for reorganizing the establishment to fit its functions. Continuing primarily as a teachers' college, it developed a junior college division as well as many technical and general education courses. As enrollment ever increased, new buildings and equipment were added; the latest is the Natural Science Building, which is to be completed early next year. Plans are at present under way for the removal of the most ancient structure on the campus, the Teachers' Training Building, and constructing in its place a Spartan Union adequate to meet the needs of an ever-growing student body. Also, a stadium seating over 20,000, will soon be under construction at Spartan Field for athletic events.

The development of the college has not been size alone, nor has it been confined to any specific departments. San Jose State has a music department which rivals that of any educational institution on the Pacific Coast. In art it is equally outstanding. The natural sciences, mathematics, social sciences, modern languages, and English departments are likewise of great merit. Technical branches of education are also being given their share of importance in the curriculum.

Success on the gridiron during the past fall, the first that San Jose State has experienced in a number of years, has partially awakened a dormant student body to the realization that its college is no longer one of the also rans, but one that is pushing forward to the realms of better education—one that is to be considered as an outstanding institution of secondary education.

Yesterday, it was the San Jose State Normal School; today, it is an awakening San Jose State College; tomorrow, what? The answer depends largely upon what the freshmen of this year and those of future years do to continue with the work just begun.

Another Frosh Success

Under an able faculty and student leadership, marked advances have been made in the administration of freshman orientation during the fall quarter. Precedents have been followed and new policies have been introduced which ultimately should put an end to the long-established idea that orientation is an unnecessary evil which must be endured while it still is unabashed.

Unfortunately a rather poor start was made at the beginning of the quarter. The freshmen had not developed sufficiently as members of the college for success in group singing, and attempts in that direction were met with indifference and discourtesy. It was significant, however, that this disorder underwent a sharp decline as soon as the class officers began arranging programs of real student interest and eliminating most of the unnecessary features responsible for orientation's unpopularity in the past. The principle of student control has proved its genuine value.

It is to be hoped that Dr. Goddard will be able to continue supervising orientation as he has done during the fall quarter. Under his leadership the freshman class meeting promises to be both a real factor in the promotion of student activities and a source of entertainment and instruction to the individual student.

Just Among Ourselves

Note—This column is personal between the president and the college. Outsiders are requested not to make use of the material.

One of my friends said to me recently, "It must be terribly discouraging to lose a large group of your good people each year. You get some good debaters and you lose them. Good musicians, good players, good athletes, good students, and just as they are beginning to capitalize on their training, they graduate."

It does look sort of futile, except that the complete development of the individual is not the objective of the College. All we can do is to co-operate for a good start, and then you go ahead. If you do capitalize on your training, we'll all rejoice, claim you as an alumnus, brag about you, possibly invite you to come back and tell us about it some day. Some of you will go to rather inconspicuous communities, but if you're leaders in good citizenship there, if you take time for the common good, then you, too, will have earned a citation. We hope you may find that some of your contacts here have helped in your activities there.

And speaking of citations, I've been doing some heavy thinking these days on the philosophy of rewards. Shall we have Recognition Day? Shall we give a Block S? Shall we have prizes and other awards? Shall we mention success in the Times? I did once believe in art for art's sake. I insisted that any activity was its own reward. I found pretty soon, however, that I was all alone, and was beginning to think of myself as a martyr. Nobody in the whole wide world seemed to agree with me. Finally I gave up.

I visited with an English officer one day on top of a London bus. Found we held the same rank. Finally I asked him what his salary was. Just one-third of mine. I said, "How do they ever get you fellows to do it?" And he answered, "They give us ribbons." And there they were, three lines of them. The passer-by who understood could read his whole history in the ribbons. Everywhere he was recognized as a man who had served the Empire, and that satisfied him. Somehow in spite of our best thinking on the subject, we do appreciate a little recognition, a little commendation. Say it's just our desire to rise above our fellows, but I suspect it's ingrained. Mankind's own development has been just that. Personally, I think we should have many awards, many prizes if you will. I believe a most important part of our job here is to recognize good stuff and hold it up for public approval.

I can't say but those of you who object to prizes are right.

"The Times Ain't Wasted"

Muckraker

We noticed last Friday Scott and Ruse.

Two football men. In training at the pompeian court.

But not for football and Lee Barnes and Larve Sorensen seem to bump into each other. Accidentally of course.

Every day but did you know that Bing Crosby is meeting Competition in the person of our own Eddie "Dillay-Dally"

Howard, who is knocking 'em dead in a local night club? Incidentally, ask Elwyn Lundy, Prominent master of ceremonies in same night club.

Why his face is red And who knows why Helen McDonald is always looking for Eddie Spatty while Dick Bertrandias is always looking for Helen.

And do you and you and you know to whom Doc MacQuarrie was referring in his column a while back as a "drunkard in our midst."

Or who the blonde from State is that dropped a fifth of injury on a dance floor recently? People looking for new local dates should go to the Pompeian Court Dec. 13.

Is also in love with which the beer has nothing to do.

And the final jab is: Rumor has it that a certain Helen, a blonde,

Is about to be led to the altar by a former State man from out of town.

And Dick Sanders found his long lost French book in the ladies' dressing room.

—S. H.

Possibly the work should be its own reward. Still, I doubt if we are ready for it. In talking with her mistress one day, Mandy used the southern word "quality." Her mistress said, "Why, Mandy, you know there's no such thing as 'quality.' We're all the same." Mandy answered, "Yes, Miss, but the reason you don't think there's such a thing as 'quality' is because you have it."

On the Spot

Steer clear of Alden Frangis! Last week he told his to be ready at seven and didn't get her to the dance about ten. According to one version he had gotten lost in the W. C., but perhaps it was his shyness.

Young people have a tradition monopoly on imagination, but takes the elders to discover the different meanings in a place where only two were intended.

What we need is someone to 1. Change the name of the Men's Mixer. To some people seemed to suggest the wrong kind of mixing.

2. Amputate Coach Walker's expectant mustache before it precipitates an epidemic. The A. S. is supporting any effective proposal.

3. Explain whom the Co-op is co-operating with.

4. Miraculously get Bill Turner out of the Freshman class (Vigorous Sophomore opposition has prevented this.)

The old master key-hole peeper got on his tip-toes the other day and glanced through the transom of several doors. He made several notes of the forms of guys, he heard and gave them to us, for copy. The first transom he looked into contained only slight acquaintances and all the said was:

but later, "Is this the end?"

"But I must be going."

"Mmmmm, again Harold!"

Then he happened in on a party of five as one was leaving.

"But I do hate to break up a perfectly good foursome. Do stay."

Alright, I will. Just then the lights went out and nothing could be heard, but a breaking vase was a thud; so he left.

"Bang."

"Smack."

"See you later, you old..."

Sigma Tau Society Distributes Money from Art Bazaar

FEW HAND MADE GIFTS WERE LEFT AFTER ART BAZAAR

Disposal of the money earned by the Rissian Bazaar given last week by Sigma Tau was decided upon at a meeting of that organization Monday. Ten dollars from the fund will be given to each of the three art clubs, Sigma Tau, Skylight, and Smoek 'n Tam, for their pages in La Torre. The remainder is to be used for a Student Loan Fund, available immediately for art students.

Sigma Tau wishes to announce that a few of the hand made gifts were left over and can be bought at half price at the art shop. They are on display in the glass cases. It is estimated that the Bazaar cleared over eighty dollars and more is expected to come in through the sale of Christmas cards. Orders for these are being made now.

Black Masquer Announces Engagement to Senior State Student

During the past week, Miss Jessie Sterling, Neil Thomas' secretary and a student at State, has announced her engagement to Jack Applegarth, prominent Senior student here at college.

Miss Sterling, who is one of the most outstanding students of the music department, being a violinist of great accomplishment, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sterling of Omaha, Nebraska. Like her fiancée, Miss Sterling is also a senior, and a member of Black Masquer, honor society for senior women.

There has been no date set for the wedding, and future plans are incomplete as yet.

Recently Dr. Sotzin reviewed the history and development of education, before the members of the Cupertino de Oro Club. His talk was well appreciated and very enlightening to his audience. Following Dr. Sotzin's speech, musical numbers, by the members of the club, were given.

Juniors Entertain Seniors at Meeting In Women's Gym Yesterday at 11

Oh, those lucky juniors and seniors! While other classes spent an idle noon, the junior and senior class members held a joint mixer yesterday, commencing at 11 o'clock, in the woman's gymnasium, followed by a free lunch in the school cafeteria.

Paul Cox's orchestra furnished music for dancing, while solos sung by Ralph Eckert, and a tap dance by Maurice Day were featured on the program. Neil Thomas, College Controller, was in evidence as Santa Claus, reading letters from unfortunate children and passing out polished apples.

Officers of both classes acted as hosts. Committee heads for the mixer were Ada Mae Rhodes, senior, and Harry B. Jennings, junior. Members of the joint committee were Ruth Montgomery, Ruth Townsend, Harry Krytzer, and Spence Amick, seniors; Estelle Reynolds, Lee Russell, Frank Yearian, Althea Harper, Neil Garbey, and Bill Jones, juniors.

Phi Kappa Pi Girls Enjoy Silver Tea Saturday Afternoon

PHI KAPPA PI PRESENTS BENEFIT TEA FOR STUDENT FUND

The Silver Tea given last Saturday afternoon by the Phi Kappa Pi sorority at the Hotel Sainte Claire was a very enjoyable and successful affair. It was given to raise funds for emergency cases of the Student Loan Fund. About two hundred and fifty guests attended, and about thirty dollars was given.

The Misses Meta Goldsmith, Gail Tucker, Dorothy Duffield, and Elizabeth Mather and the Mesdames Wilbur Hubbard and James Stevenson poured.

In the receiving line were the Misses Helen Dimmick, Ruth Montgomery, president of Phi Kappa Pi; Ruth Adele Roberts, vice president; Lois Hill, treasurer; and Helen McDaniels, secretary.

Formal Initiation Held by Sapphos

Holding their formal initiation ceremonies by candlelight, Sappho met at the home of Miss Barbara Blauer on the Alameda last Wednesday night, November 30. Miss Blauer's home was attractively decorated with holly and red berries.

Following the ceremony, those present adjourned downstairs, where dancing and cards were enjoyed. The women students who became members of the organization at the initiation were the Misses Kay O'Bannon, Betty Wood, Betty O'Brien, Elaine Edwards, Jean Street, Frances Van Dalsem and Beth Craft.

IOTA DELTA PHI ATTENDS THEATRE TONIGHT

Members of Iota Delta Phi, French honor society, will attend the Theatre D'Art in San Francisco Friday evening. M. Ferrier will present "Le Quartierne," "L'Ete de la St. Martin," stage plays in the French language.

Le Theatre D'Art is a quaint little theatre which the French societies of San Jose have visited before.

The second K. P. dinner of the quarter was held Wednesday at 6:00 p. m., at O'Brien's. Miss Innes was the guest of honor and gave a talk, and each member brought a gift which were to be given to Miss Cameron, who is being paid by the county to take care of the needy. The dinner was given by Miss Crumby's committee.

Frosh "A" Speedball Team Challenged to Battle With Sophs

SERIES OF VICTORIES OVER CLASSES IS RECORD OF FRESHMEN

After a brilliant series of victories over speedball teams from each of the upper classes, the Freshman "A" team will meet a Sophomore group composed principally of soccer team members, next Wednesday afternoon at 4:30.

The only team in the entire intramural speedball schedule appearing on the field with substitute players, the Frosh "A" eleven clinaxed a brilliant series of victories by overcoming the Junior team 13-6 on Wednesday. Such players as Phipers and Holland completely outclassed their older and more experienced opponents.

Although they had no practice, and the other classes sported members of the Varsity soccer team, the class of '36 whitewashed each one of them in turn.

The Sophs were the first to be trampled by the Frosh juggernauts, going down to a 2-0 defeat. Last week the Seniors were taken down the line for a muddy drubbing. Eight points were chalked up by the Freshmen to none for the Seniors, who seemed to find it difficult to keep their footing.

No one was surprised when the Frosh "A" team defeated the Frosh "B" eleven 16-6, but when the Juniors were taken down by the same score on Wednesday, intramural speedball fans had to muffle their snickers.

The excellent pass work of the Frosh forward wall accounted for most of the 42 points that were scored against opposition teams. It is significant that, due to the fine defensive work of the secondary, a total of only 12 points was scored against the Frosh team and that six of these were scored by the Frosh "B" team.

Ex-Football Captain Marries College Sweetheart Sunday

Howard F. Hornbuckle, former San Jose State College football captain, who is now identification officer for the San Jose police department, was married last Sunday morning at Trinity Church to the former Miss Charlotte Vivian Hesig of Klamath Falls, Oregon.

The wedding brought to a climax a romance which began when both were students at State College, where Hornbuckle was a star tackle on the football team. At present they are on their honeymoon in Southern California.

Mac's basketballers get the cold shivers nowadays whenever they think of the big red team of Stanford. When visiting the Cards on their own court, the Spartans were treated quite rudely, Stanford proceeding to play basketball in the Pacific Coast Conference football manner. Reports say that even John Bunn has to wear football pants when coaching his "man-eaters." Incidentally, the local squad gave the Cards more than an even game.

Mt. View Outclasses Freshman Basketball Team, 25 to 17

"Defeated but not beaten" was the sentiment of the Frosh basketball squad as it continued practice after the contest with the Mountain View High School unlimited quintet last Tuesday.

Although the Frosh emerged on the short end of a 25-17 score, the game was not without its ups and downs. The starting combination put up a stiff battle for the lead, the score at half time being 10-6. In the third quarter the Frosh ran up a 11-14 lead, but the sharp-shooting Mountain View five proceeded to ring up points on long shots, and the final whistle blew with the San Jose team trailing behind.

All fifteen men who accompanied Coach Blesh to Mountain View saw action. The forwards of the starting five were Cacitti and Wing, while Lindner held down the center position. Coach Blesh experimented with different combinations, the smoothest of which had Cacitti and Mesenburg at the forward positions, Arnerich and Wing at the guard position, with the giant Biddle at center. Biddle recently completed a successful season on the football team and seems about to repeat on the basketball court. Wing also played an alert game.

Although defeated on their first start, the Frosh lost to a team of veterans who have played three seasons together. When they play Mountain View in a return game the result may be the other way around.

Coach Blesh has compiled a tentative schedule which includes games with Watsonville, Newman, Alameda, Santa Clara, Monterey, Montezuma, Morgan Hill, and Redwood City High Schools. If arrangements can be made, the Frosh will play a game with the California Frosh as a preliminary to the San Jose State-California game.

Last season a lot was expected from the basketball team and some of the students were pretty irked when they dropped a few. This year no one expects them to do much, and an unexpected victory or two will probably bring down reams of praise.

Stanford Athletic Board Will Choose "Pop's" Successor

Rumor figured more than did substantiated fact in the latest developments of the Warner succession puzzle, which received its first treatment in the meeting of Stanford Board of Athletic Control last evening. Meanwhile, Dud DeGroot, San Jose "miracle man," confined his remarks to, "It's quite improbable that the board will decide anything definite now," and Spartan supporters were forgetting the fright given them earlier in the week when it seemed that a relapse in the obscurity of pre-DeGroot days was likely.

Coast sports commentators have come to regard the San Jose coach as somewhat of a minor candidate for "Pop" Warner's vacated position, which is conceded to be pretty much of a handful for whoever falls heir to it. The general opinion is that the Stanford board will take no definite action until it has had time to consider the relative merits of the numerous Warner disciples who have been suggested for placement.

The Frosh have as a leader this year the smallest man on the basketball squad. He is perhaps also the fastest and most aggressive. We mean that little package of dynamite, Captain Eddie Wing.

Sophomores, Juniors Tied for Second Place in Hockey Tourney

Second place in the girls' interclass hockey tournament will be decided when the junior and senior physical education majors meet this afternoon at three o'clock. Victory for the junior team will elevate it to second position; otherwise it will be tied with the sophomore squad.

First place is conceded to the seniors, who have won every game played and who promise to give the juniors a hard game today, although a loss would not affect their standing.

The freshman teams have been outclassed by more experienced upper-classmen in every case. The freshman non-majors succeeded in defeating the freshman majors, and the majors have one game more to play, having lost three.

Katherine Berger, well-known freshman, and Dot Turner will compete for girls' singles tennis championship as a result of semi-finals played Wednesday, in which Lillian O'Hanlon and Marian Barnes were eliminated. Miss Berger is a graduate of San Jose High School, where she was active in tennis and intramural activities. She defeated Miss O'Hanlon 6-2, 8-6; while Miss Turner eliminated Miss Barnes 6-3, 3-6, 7-5. The final set will be played early next week or during the coming week-end, according to the contestants.
